TRUMAN PROPOSES CHANGES

Building Program Is Rejected By House At Austin

House Refuse To Allow Financing Bill's Appearance

AUSTIN, June 20.—(AP)—The house today refused permission for introduction of a $25 million dollar building program bill.

It took a four-fifths majority of the members voting to allow a measure to be introduced after the first 60 days of a session.

Rep. C. S. McEllan's proposal to finance eleemosynary and other buildings through issuance of state bonds got an 80-36 vote, far short of the support needed.

The senate dragged through another morning of argument on the bill to provide a multiple text-book list selection system for elementary schools. This discussion started last week.

The Eagle Lake legislator said bonds issued for construction of 18 million dollars worth of eleemosynary buildings and 7 million worth of other structures would be retired over a long period of years by payments from the general revenue fund.

Opposing this idea, Rep. Paul Wilson of Geneva told the house: "We're paying now on debts my father helped create by voting for bonds. Our natural resources are going to be depleted some day. Then how are we going to pay off that bonded indebtedness?"

He said McEllan's proposal was merely a way of "passing the buck to future generations."

A similar proposed constitutional amendment to authorize issuance of 20 million dollars in bonds for building purposes already has been introduced in the senate by Carlos Ashley of Llano. The house action today indicated trouble ahead for Ashley's bill.

The first legislature headed into its twenty-fourth week today with its money problems far from solved, and other important legislation still was hanging fire.

Legislators began their seventh week of service at 11 a. m. just half the rate of compensation they

Big Four Conclude Meet Then Decide To Convene Again

PARIS, June 20.—(AP)—An American spokesman announced tonight an immediate new meeting of the four foreign ministers on the heels of Andre Vishinsky's demand for withdrawal of the agreement reached this afternoon.

The decision came only an hour after the council, in session since May 23, adjourned their meeting with an announcement of agreement in principle on Austria and a stop-gap arrangement for Germany.

Vishinsky's request for reopening of the meeting was based on "new information" from Moscow.

Prior to this, the Big Four foreign ministers announced today their failure thus far to agree on economic or political unity for Germany, but announced agreement in principle on an Austrian independence treaty.

Ending a session which began May 23, the foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, France and Britain disclosed agreement only on a "modus vivendi"—a sort of live-and-let-live arrangement for Germany.

By The Associated Press. San Angelo hospitals were treating 75 polio patients today—a drop of four over the week end—as increases in the disease were reported in other Texas cities.

Three new cases were admitted in San Angelo yesterday, but seven were dismissed. The count was 79 cases.

San Angelo was described as the "hardest hit community in the nation so far this year" by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

But the Foundation also pointed to San Antonio, saying the case load had jumped there in a week from 35 to 63.

Eight children have died of polio this year in San Angelo. San Antonio, several times as large, has counted nine deaths out of 73 cases since Jan. 1. At the same time in 1948, 15 cases and one death had occurred in San Antonio.

Two new cases in Dallas brought the number of patients there yesterday to 17. One was from Temple—that Central Texas city's first of the year.

There were 13 cases under treatment at Fort Worth, where there were 27 cases for the year to date. Two have died.

The Valley polio treatment center at Harlingen reported the admission of two polio patients from that area. Two were dismissed from the Center Saturday and two more were due to go home Monday.

Eight of San Angelo's polio victims will be flown in Air Force planes to San Antonio Monday. They will be taken from San Antonio to Gonzales for convalescent care and therapeutic treatment.

Tyler has had three mild cases of polio this year. Rusk county's third case is a seven-year old girl near Henderson.

Three additional therapists recruited for the local chapter of the Foundation were to start work this week at Shannon Hospital in San Angelo.

Veterans To Get Dividend Payment On U.S. Insurance

Federal Action Is Seen As Aid To Declining Business

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Veterans Administration Carl R. Gray, Jr. today authorized payment next year of a special $2,800,000,000 dividend on national service life insurance policies.

Gray said he hopes veterans will begin receiving checks "some time in January, 1950" with payment substantially completed in the first half of that year.

The dividend payment has been hoped for by some economists as a stimulant to purchasing power which might help offset declining business activity.

A premature announcement of the action was put out by VA yesterday, but recalled because Gray had not yet signed the order. He signed it this morning.

About 16,000,000 veterans of World War II will receive the dividends.

This would average about $175, but individual calculations have not been completed.

In general, every veteran who took out national service insurance and kept it in force at least three months will be eligible.

Where policyholders have died, the beneficiaries will receive the funds.

Application blanks for the dividends are being prepared and may be available in August in post offices, veterans' service organizations and V. O. offices.

The special dividend will not be paid on policies issued after January 1, 1948. But such policies may participate in some later dividend, Gray said.

The cut-off date—that is, the limit of time on which dividends accumulations will be allowed—is the anniversary date of the policy in 1948.

By The Associated Press. The statement said each military commander would have the responsibility to take the measures necessary to insure the normal functioning and utilization of rail, water and road transport.

The occupation authorities are to recommend to the leading German economic bodies of the East and West.

Members Of Czech Catholic Group Are Excommunicated

VATICAN CITY, June 20.—(AP)—The Roman Catholic church today excommunicated members of the government-sponsored Catholic action society of Communist-dominated Czechoslovakia.

The second congregation of the Holy Office issued a decree which condemned the group as a schismatic one "fraudulently labelled."

The decree, published in Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, declared:

"Recently the opponents of the Catholic church in Czechoslovakia founded a so-called Catholic action by which they tried to induce the Catholics of that republic to desert the Catholic church and to deny obedience to the legitimate pastors of the church."

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 20.—(AP)—The Communist government's security police apparently tightened their guard on Archbishop Josef Beran's palace today while Catholics weighed the meaning of organized Communist heckling of the prelate at Sunday's cathedral services.

The heckling drove him from his cathedral and prevented him from completing his sermon.

Attempts to talk to the archbishop today were foiled by security police in charge of the palace reception desk and telephone switchboard.

An attempt to reach his private secretary by telephone met a reply from the switchboard that "they are accepting no phone calls or visitors." It could not be learned whether the police had refused them the right to see or talk to anyone.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—A group of Republican lawmakers today polished up a substitute for the administration housing bill, for offering in the house later this week.

Its main feature is a provision for "a large program of direct loans for those with lower incomes ineligible for public housing and liberalization of federal housing administration mortgage insurance."

For the rest, it bears such similarity to the administration measure—including public housing and slum clearance provisions—that few Republicans are expected to sponsor it, aside from the 10 sponsoring it.

President Wants Reorganization For Government

New Cabinet Post Is Suggested In White House Plan

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—President Truman today asked congress to create a tenth cabinet-rank department—a department of welfare—and to put the commerce department in charge of public roads.

The plans—seven all told—were sent to Capitol Hill within a half hour after Mr. Truman signed the long-debated reorganization bill giving him broad powers to merge and streamline government agencies, subject to congressional veto.

The public roads administration now is in the federal works agency. Welfare and social security matters are handled by the federal security agency.

All the plans, if permitted to take effect, will carry out reform and economy proposals of the commission on government reorganization headed by former President Herbert Hoover.

The other five would (a) give the bureau of employment security (jobs, pay and job placement) to the labor department, (b) reorganize the postoffice department, (c) enlarge the scope of the executive office of the President, (d) streamline the civil service commission, and (e) strengthen the authority of the chairman of the maritime commission.

But he cautioned that approval of the reorganization plan "was not automatically produce efficiency and economy or reduce expenditures."

"Only the curtailment or abolition of government programs can be expected to result in substantial immediate savings."

The President promised a "steady and sustained effort to achieve improved management."

Mr. Truman also urged prompt passage of a Senate-approved bill to reorganize the armed forces further, and on legislation to raise the pay of top officials.

The government must attract men of "vigor, imagination and experience," he said.

All seven plans were described by the White House as conforming "quite closely" to the Hoover commission recommendations.

Under the new law, the plans will take effect in 60 days unless

Rent Control Is Faded By Woods For Texas Towns

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Housing Expediter T. H. E. Woods ended rent controls today in New Braunfels, Denison, Sherman, Mission and Bryan, Texas.

The action was taken as a result of decontrol resolutions passed by the governing bodies of those cities and approved by Governor Beauford Jester of Texas.

Woods also removed rent controls in the counties in which all the cities except Mission are located. The decontrol action also was applied to Wilson, Kendall and Fannin counties.

This figure represents 69.76 percent of the $190,000 quota assigned this county.

The campaign is to end on June 30.

Romance Theme In Testimony By Judith Coplon

By The Associated Press. The Washington espionage trial of Judith Coplon opened today after the week end recess, with a story of romance.

Miss Coplon, former political analyst in the department of justice, said her relationship with a "man for a maid" was not concerned with purloining state secrets.

Two other government spy and Communist conspiracy trials also resumed.

In New York the defense called Harry O. Hawkins, former state department official, as its first witness for Alger Hiss, an ex-state department top level official. Hiss is accused of perjury for denying that he had passed state department secrets.

Also in New York Gilbert Green told another federal jury he had advocated Communist principles but denied these principles called for violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

Hiss and 10 other Communist party officials are charged with conspiracy to overthrow the government by force and violence.

Green, the chairman of the Illinois State Communist party, said what he did was advocate the principles of Marx and Lenin "in teaching the people to defend themselves in their every day struggles."

In Washington Miss Coplon told the jury she and Valentine A. Gubichev, Russian engineer employed in construction of the United Nations buildings, had long conversations about art and literature.

FBI agents have testified they shadowed the couple when they met in Upper Manhattan, New York, on Feb. 18. They said Miss Coplon reached into her purse and Gubichev held out his hand. They said that when the couple was arrested March 4 Miss Coplon

AWOL Soldier On Trial For Life On Murder Charge

YELLVILLE, Ark., June 20.—(AP)—Kenneth D. Speegle, 24, AWOL soldier, went on trial for his life today in the slaying of an Arkansas state trooper.

Prosecutor Eugene W. Moore said today he would ask the death penalty. Speegle is charged with first degree murder.

State Patrolman S. V. Pavatt was wounded fatally last Sept. 25 by a rifle shot fired from a lonely cabin. He was investigating farm burglaries.

While hunting the killer, authorities found the body of Zus Crook, retired railroad worker, who owned the cabin, buried in a shallow grave nearby.

Papers linking Speegle to the crime were found in a nearby cave. An extensive hunt over the Southwestern border of the state was started for Speegle.

AWOL from his army post at Fort Lewis, Wash.

He was arrested about two weeks later near Oklahoma City after a former sheriff recognized him from the days he lived in Berger, Texas.

Speegle was charged with the deaths of Pavatt and Crook. He was taken to the Arkansas hospital for nervous diseases.

Dr. George E. Larson, hospital director, declared Speegle sane after an examination but Jackson said the lad apparently suffered amnesia.

Republicans Work On Their Version Of Housing Bill

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Three new floggings were added today to the growing list of acts by robbed and hooded terrorists in this area.

They were revealed to newsmen by one of the victims, a widowed mother of five. She is Mrs. Irene Burton, 38, of Dora, Ala.

Two of her daughters, Billie Mae, 18, and Sally, 16, were forced to go with her by the masked band. Both daughters stood beside her on a wooded hillside road as she was struck three times with a rope the night of June 3.

Two men, both seized by the band at the Burton home, also were flogged.

Mrs. Burton, together with most of the other victims of the night riders, blames the Ku Klux Klan. She said members of the band "were robes with crosses in small circles and hoods. That description fits Klan regalia."

Mrs. Burton said the men accused her of running an "indecent place." She denied the charge.

Sec. Johnson Says Congress Can Cut Military Expense

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson was reported today to have told senators "defense spending can be trimmed by $750,000,000 in the 12 months starting July 1."

Members of the senate appropriations committee said Johnson told them behind closed doors that this could be done mainly by cutting back the future size of the air force from the 70 groups proposed in congress to the 48 urged by President Truman.

The senators had called Johnson for testimony on the $15,900,000,000 armed forces money bill passed by the house.

Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Ola) of the subcommittee considering the bill has said he hopes that at least $1,000,000,000 can be trimmed from it. He called defense officials back today for more closed-door testimony.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the senate armed services committee said in a radio interview yesterday that "unless some new situation evolves we may get by for $14,500,000,000 or $14,600,000,000 at the outside" in defense spending for the coming fiscal year.

With the new fiscal year starting in less than two weeks, congress has passed only one of the appropriations needed to keep government agencies operating.

Economists Study New Pattern For Developing South

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—The President's Council of Economic Advisers today studied a proposed new pattern of federal policy to develop the farms and factories of the South.

The report was prepared at the council's request by the National Planning Association. Its emphasis, the association said, is on policies to serve "the best interests of the entire nation" rather than the special interest of the South.

The recommendations include:

1. An increase in personal income tax exemptions to most the buying power of consumers.

2. Direct subsidies to farmers under support system somewhat similar to the "Brannan Plan" but, in its authors' opinion, "less costly."

3. Measures to check the flight of capital from the South if a recession strikes; also, the location of an "appropriate" share of defense industries in the South.

4. An increase in the minimum wage to between 60 and 75 cents, but on a flexible system to permit changes if the general price level moves up or down.

5. Expanded programs of conservation and development of soil, forest, water, mineral and other resources. This would include more valley "authorities" if surveys showed them to be economically sound.

Grandmother Gets Kiss From Bandit And Loses Auto

KANSAS CITY, June 20.—(AP)—The bandits had a kiss for grandmother.

But Grandmother—59-year-old Mrs. Sadie Croser—would rather have her automobile back.

Her story, as told to police, was that a young man stepped into the car as she stopped for a traffic light while driving home late Sunday night.

He flourished a gun, forced her to get out of the car, and drove away with the automobile.

Before leaving, however, she said one of them "gave me a motherly little kiss on the cheek, and told me: 'you remind me of my mother.'"

WHEAT STORAGE

Having obtained authorization from Congress to do so, the Department of Agriculture has announced an immediate emergency program to help wheat growers find a place to put their 1949 crop. Some government storage space will be built, and growers will get financial help in building bins on their own property. The emergency had arrived; the 1949 crop was ready and something had to be done with it. The general recognition of the truth of this fact, by both supporters and opponents of government farm policies, is shown in the Congressional approval of the emergency measure. It will help to relieve the current wheat crop problem.

But what of next year's crop, and the one's to follow? The emergency program fits the pattern of our farm policy, which is based on the idea that there is too much food, and that the thing to do is to put it away so that it won't upset the market. That was done in 1948, and because our storage facilities are still half full of 1948 wheat there aren't enough places to put 1949 wheat. When the next season comes around, the new facilities to be built this year will probably still be half full or more with 1949 wheat, along with the rest of the storage space, and then what happens?

There must be something short-sighted about a wheat storage policy which is perennially unprepared for the harvesting of a new crop. And there must be something wrong with a policy which fails to find markets for wheat even though half the world is hungry. When the wheat is ready to harvest something must be done quickly to take care of it. But in between harvests we had better make a new examination of our thinking about the growing and marketing of wheat and other foods.

NEW ERA IN SELLING

If retailers expect a year of good profits, more attention must be paid to quality and salesmanship than to getting a maximum price, according to Charles H. Kellstadt of Sears Roebuck and Company.

After nine years of a sellers' market, the public attitude has changed, and the balance between production and consumption must be brought about by the retailer, says Mr. Kellstadt. The purchasing power of the public is still good, but caution rules buying habits once more.

Time, effort and courtesy on the part of the salesperson are once more necessary if good sales are to be made. Quality in the product and quality in the service will coax the dollars out of pockets and keep the wheels of business turning.

ON PASSING IN SCHOOL

Teachers of British and Continental schools, after a year or two of teaching in American schools under the teacher exchange system, usually say in one way or another that they prefer teaching under the more disciplinary system of European schools. The idea is that good discipline is necessary to good work, and there is something in it. There is room for difference of opinion, however, as to what constitutes good discipline.

A Welsh teacher who had just finished teaching for a year in an Ohio school had a further remark to make on the passing of students from grade to grade, which also has something to do with the relationship between discipline and learning. In the PRAISE.

I've been praised for many traits, for strength, for wit, for fame,
For willingness to serve a cause,
For deeds that all acclaim;
But at a table where I sat this compliment I heard:
"I didn't ask him for his note. I merely took his word."

The fulsome speech of flattery sincerity may lack,
But man is judged by what of him is said behind his back.
And there's no higher praise than this, for it is honest stuff:
"I didn't ask him for his note, His word was good enough!"

A promise made, a promise kept!
My boy, throughout life's

Remember nothing better can be said of any man
"He came along when needed

schools of Wales only about two-thirds of the students pass each year, he said, and standards of attainment, required for passing, are higher.

In America a teacher who passes only two-thirds of his pupils probably would have an uncomfortable session with the superintendent, who would have had an equally unhappy time with the board of education. In general the American teacher is expected to pass most students, on the theory that the children should remain in their proper age groups as far as possible. This idea also has merit, but the matter is open to question. Standards of learning in the school today are attacked frequently by educators themselves, and by others. Perhaps it might be well to set higher requirements for passing, making the step from one grade to the next something to be worked for with interest and industry instead of something taken for granted by the average student.

EXAMPLE FOR EUROPE

American officials of the European Recovery Program are urging the Marshall Plan nations of Europe to allow greater freedom of trade among themselves and with the United States. This would involve two general steps. Many import and export restrictions would have to be lifted, and rigid regulations on the exchange of currencies would have to be relaxed. By these concessions, American representatives tell Europe, trade could get the stimulus of competition, in which price would be a factor.

If certain insistent business interests in the United States had their way, such suggestions would have to be made to Europe with the added recommendation: "Follow what Americans say, not what they do." As goods from other nations begin to move through international channels of trade in greater quantity, some Americans are becoming more and more concerned about the results of imports on local business and industrial interests. The cry for higher tariffs—protective tariffs—is being raised again. Protective tariffs stifle and prevent the very competitive, vigorous trade the United States is trying to promote in Europe.

If Americans want to be known as good leaders in the world, they should be willing to practice sound economics as well as to preach it.

LEARNED POLITICIAN

Does anyone have his feet on the ground more than a party ward leader, or less than a graduate student who has just taken his doctorate in philosophy? This question is widely held and the career of Philip J. Schupler shows, may be quite wrong. Schupler is the Democratic leader of his section of Brooklyn, and is a member of the lower branch of the state legislature. He has just won his doctorate at Fordham University for a thesis on the political achievements of the late Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes.

This goes to show that it may be unsafe to discount the worker who rings your doorbell and solicits your vote for some candidate for the city council. He may have an advanced university education, and in many respects know more than you do. If the candidate will employ his knowledge for the public good, all may end well.

either house or congress were then within that time by a majority vote of the full membership—40 in the senate or 218 in the house. Each plan is to be considered separately.

Congressional leaders, after talking with the President today, indicated congress still will be in session when the 60 days are up on August 10. They also predicted more reorganization plans will be sent up by the President shortly.

Welfare Department
The proposal to create a welfare department provides that it take over the duties now administered by federal security administrator Oscar Ewing. Ewing, if he then holds the job, would become a cabinet member as secretary of welfare.

In greater detail, the other five reorganization plans would:

1. Transfer the bureau of employment security, now in the department of labor. The bureau deals with unemployment insurance and job placement. This plan also transfers to labor the functions of the veterans placement service board and abolishes that board.

2. Empower the postmaster general to reorganize the post office. He would take over authority now lodged in subordinate officers and agencies of the department. The plan provides for four assistant postmaster generals; drops the designations "first," "second" and so on. It abolishes the offices of postal controller, purchasing agent and bureau of accounts.

3. Transfer the national security council and the national security resources board to the President. These agencies now report to the cabinet but are more independent agencies.

4. Make the chairman of the U. S. civil service commission the chief executive and administrative officer of the U. S. maritime commission. He would take responsibility for appointment of its personnel and the direction of its activities.

West zones measures to ease the establishment of closer economic ties between the zones and "more effective implementation of trade and economic agreements."

After four weeks of negotiations here the ministers virtually agreed not to disagree again until they meet in New York next September. Adjournment came at 6:30 p. m. Paris time (11:30 a. m. CST).

A communiqué for publication at 8 p. m. was released to news men. The eight-page document, explaining the details of what was done, outlined draft articles for an independence treaty for Austria and contained a working agreement between the East and West in Berlin.

The four ministers—Britain's Ernest Bevin, America's Dean Acheson, Russia's Andrei V. Vishinsky and France's Robert Schuman—went into the bar of the pink marble palace for a sandwich and a glass of champagne as their discussions came to an end. Reporters and photographers were allowed into the palace, scene of the conference on the last day.

Authoritative sources said agreement was reached yesterday on a "live and let live" pact on the former German capital and also on instructions to the ministers' deputies to write an independence treaty.

Tension to Ease
The agreement on Berlin and on resumption of east-west trade in Germany is expected to ease international tensions. It is understood that in return for the west's renunciation of claims against the east, Russia will issue a statement guaranteeing the west free access to Berlin, preventing another blockade of the city.

The foreign ministers' deputies met this morning and drafted the four-power communiqué detailing the agreements. The ministers will meet this afternoon and then issue the communiqué.

Informed sources said the agreement was a statement of principles which would not solve the basic problems between Russia and the west, international tensions and relieve fears of a clash which might lead to war.

MRS. RAY CARTER

MISS KATHRYN TURNER WEDS RAY CARTER IN CANDLELIGHT CEREMONY HELD AT DAWSON

In a candlelight ceremony Friday evening at First Methodist church of Dawson, Miss Kathryn Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Turner became the bride of Ray Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carter of Houston, with the Rev. Roy Lewis as officiant.

The impressive double ring ceremony was read before an altar decorated with white calla lilies and palms. In the background, arches held myriad cathedral tapers. The chancel railing was edged with gardenias, and candles were festooned with smilax.

The occasion was the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents. Among the ceremonial appointments were Dresden candlesticks which have been in her family's possession for several generations.

Miss Peta Clara Love of Corsicana was at the piano for a prelude of appropriate music, and she accompanied Mrs. Robert Hill of Dawson, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Love used excerpts from love songs as a musical background for the ceremony and played the traditional processional and recessional.

Bride's Attire.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a portrait collar designed with a sweetheart neckline encrusted with seed pearls. The fitted bodice was back-buttoned and had long sleeves, tapered to points at the wrists. A flourish on the skirt flared into a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a cascading, fan-shaped bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis and lilies of the valley. Her only jewels were pearls belonging to her mother.

Mrs. Daniel Morris Carter, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Gloria Johnson of Austin; Miss Betty Bryson of Corsicana; Miss Sue Carter of Houston, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Doris Pullin, Miss Mary Beth Davis and Miss Marjorie Nelson, all of Dawson.

They wore colonial gowns of palm green taffeta with mittens and with hats of matching tulle. They carried colonial lace fans fashioned of American Beauty roses with matching satin streamers.

Brother Best Man.
Daniel Morris Carter of Houston, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Other groomsmen were Charles Richardson of Houston; Gene McCluney of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride; W. T. Berry, Billie Gene Cannon, James Edgar Davis and Billy Gene Turner, brother of the bride, all of Dawson.

The bride's mother was gowned in a silver dinner dress with turquoise and white length gloves. In her coffee she wore apron and a white orchid. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a formal dress of aqua crepe and wore a white orchid corsage.

The home of the bride's parents was the scene of the wedding reception. Receiving with the bride principals were members of the wedding party; Mrs. Turner, the bride's mother; Mr. and Mrs. Carter, the bridegroom's parents; and Mrs. Leone Anderson and Miss Elizabeth Gwynn of Austin.

The bride's table was laid with a white satin cloth and centered with a silver bowl of calla lilies flanked by silver candelabra and tapered. Bridal tulle and gardenias encircled the three-tiered wedding cake adorned with miniature wedding figures.

Mrs. Guy Sinclair of College Station, sister of the bridegroom, was at the bride's book. Assisting were Misses Phyllis McCluney of Kerens, Robert Smith of San Antonio, Ray Martin of Coleman, Clifton Turner, Jr., of Corsicana, Sam Bosley of Kerens, and Mrs. Gwynn of Cleburne. C. M. Lowmire, W. B. Chauncey, C. A. Willis, W. C. Turner, Newton Barron, Clyde Sims, W. Berry, L. Turner and Miss Mary Lowmire, all of Austin, were bridesmaids.

For their trip to New Orleans the bride chose a navy blue tulle suit, white and navy hat and bag, white gloves and an orchid corsage.

In the Kiss trial, Hawkins testified Miss had a good reputation for "integrity, loyalty and veracity." He said he never had heard anyone say Miss was a Communist or Fellow Traveler.

Hawkins was chief of the state department's trade agreements division from 1936 to 1943, and now is a professor at Tufts College, Medford, Mass.

Hawkins was the state department officer over Henry Julian Wadleigh. The latter has admitted passing secret documents to White House chambers, former magazine editor, for relay to a Red spy ring. Chambers has accused Miss of slipping him secret information, too.

Day sermon in St. Vitus cathedral yesterday brought the long battle between church and state to its highest tension. The archbishop, defiantly resisting Communist efforts to control the church and break the spiritual rule of the Vatican over Czechoslovakia's 9,000,000-Catholics, had to leave the pulpit and return to his palace, already under the watchful eyes of the security police.

The whistling and jeering broke out from demonstrators bunched near the altar as the archbishop began a denunciation of the government's moves against the church. The rest of the congregation, many in tears, burst into a hymn in an attempt to quell the disorder.

Some Prague priests told their congregations the archbishop's cathedral might have to be reconsecrated because the disorders had profaned holy ground. However, a cathedral official said this would not be necessary. The heckling he said would be looked upon as a political incident. Normally, reconsecration comes only after commission of a crime or a desecration on church property. Actually, services were held again in the cathedral this morning.

The archbishop was back in the seclusion of his palace, facing the prospect of even more surveillance because he had been able to send a pastoral letter out of the palace to be read in churches throughout the country yesterday. The letter declared there would be "no compromise" in any further church-state negotiations. Police have been withholding his mail and turning away most callers.

The archbishop had been permitted to leave the palace Saturday night, when he again defied the government and said he would sign an agreement which "violates the laws of the church and human rights." When he began Sunday morning to take up this theme again, the hecklers stood him.

The archbishop, pointing from his throne to the hundreds of white-robed, flower bedecked children gathered for the celebrations of Corpus Christi Sunday, said: "These children of the present are the present circumstances it is impossible to conduct mass." He made no further attempt to speak but left the cathedral, followed by thousands of the faithful.

Scores of security police in the square which separates the cathedral from the archbishop's residence made numerous arrests during and after the service. No reason for the arrests could be learned.

Thousands of the faithful pressed around Archbishop Beran when he left—singing, cheering wildly and waving flowers.

It appeared that the arrests totaled several acres but there was no way of making an accurate count.

The archbishop was interrupted in his sermon just as he told the congregation the new government-sponsored Catholic action organization was not "real Catholic action" and the government-sponsored Catholic newspaper was not "real Catholic newspaper."

Apparently the hecklers, who went into action at this point, feared the prelate was starting a brilliant attack such as the pastoral letter he had sent out of his guarded palace Saturday and had yesterday in scores of churches throughout the country at morning masses.

This letter told the faithful the time for decision had come and denounced Communist opponents of the church as "wolves in sheep's clothing who are attempting to crush religious freedom."

It said the archbishop would not tolerate "setting up commissars in church institutions and establishments of action committees in Catholic congregations."

Big Storm Here 63 Years Ago; Much Damage

The last serious storm to hit Corsicana was 63 years ago, T. J. Walton, pioneer business man here, stated Monday as he recalled one that unroofed business houses and spoiled a June 10th celebration here June 19, 1886.

"That is the last serious storm and I think probably the first to strike Corsicana," Walton said. No one was killed.

Walton was employed at a drug store to deliver drugs, run errands, etc., but his main job was washing and cleaning bottles for reuse.

A county-wide picnic by the negroes was in progress at the old Mitten race tracks east of Corsicana with some 5,000 present.

Storm clouds approaching from all directions caused many of the celebrators to put their food baskets in their wagons and come to town.

The cyclonic winds struck the business district and Walton related that cakes, pies, fried chickens and other foods literally rained on the main street from Fourth avenue to the Southern Pacific Lines depot.

While he was watching the food being dropped, the storm took the roof from the drug store where he was employed.

The old Methodist church (the one prior to the present building) was equipped with a tall steeple, the highest building in the city at that time. The force of the winds blew the steeple down.

The merchant also added that weeks were required to remove the debris from the damaged houses and splintered shade and fruit trees here.

Prichard entered the oil business as a broker in 1915 and in 1921 became an independent operator. Later that year he formed a partnership with J. Stave Anderson.

After the district meeting, Cliche and Mayo attended an administrators meeting in Texhoma, where they spent Thursday evening.

County committeemen are George Ward, John G. Christian and Elmer D. Smith.

Mrs. A. B. Horn, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Horn, Jr., have returned from Fayette, Mo., where they visited relatives.

Powell 4-H Boy Wins Ribbon At State Contest

Boyce Ross, 4-H club lad from Powell won third place in the state-wide livestock judging contest last week at College Station. Assistant County Agent Curtis Henderson reported Monday.

A livestock and dairy judging team competed in the state contests from June 14 to 18, which took top honors at the district elimination event several weeks ago.

Young Ross won his blue ribbon in the individual judging contest, earning 102 points out of a possible 200.

Both judging teams did very well at the event, Henderson reported. The livestock group was eighth out of 28 teams and the dairy judging team placed 12th out of 28.

Henderson and County Agent W. H. Walker spent the entire week in College Station, where a conference of county agents was held. The group got under way Monday, June 18.

MISS EMMA G. SHIPMAN.

Miss Shipman Is President First Church Of Christ

The election of Miss Emma G. Shipman to the presidency of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass., sparked an annual meeting of the Christian Science Board of Directors in Boston Tuesday.

The meeting was filled with reports of marked progress in the movement throughout the globe.

Miss Shipman, a Christian Science practitioner and teacher, was a member of the last class (1938) of the Christian Science Board of Directors.

She has been a member of the mother church since 1893.

Reports at the recent annual meeting revealed that more than 75,000 copies of the various Christian Science publications have been mailed out to all parts of the world; that, judging from reports by the Clerk of the Mother Church and others, a general postwar resurgence is being noted in relation to food, clothing and literature supplies have flowed steadily from the Mother Church to needy Christian Scientists in Europe; and that efforts are increasing to enable displaced persons in Europe to obtain new homes for themselves in other countries, including the United States, Canada and England.

The thought stressed throughout the meeting was that "selfishness is the root of the world's troubles—selfishness which puts one's own interests, or the interests of one's group or nation, as he conceives them, above the interests of the whole of mankind."

The local Church of Christ, Scientist, was represented at the annual meeting by Mrs. M. E. Savage, Miss Caroline Wood and Miss Elizabeth Holcomb. The meeting was visited by 10,000 members and visitors.

MISS BETTY RUTH SMITH AND TYRUS CHRISTY ADAMS MARRY AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

The glow of taper, arching above a great fan arrangement of white peonies and palms, lent added beauty to the rites uniting in marriage Miss Betty Ruth Smith and Tyrus Christy Adams of Dallas Saturday evening in First Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Floyd Smith, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bruce Adams of Wills Point.

The double ring ceremony was read by Dr. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, and the wedding music was presented by Mrs. O. W. Holmes, organist, and Mrs. Claude L. White, soloist.

Before the entrance of the bride and groom, Mrs. Holmes played the love theme from Tchaikovsky's Fifth Symphony, Wagner's "Eve of the Star," and Debussy's "Clair de Lune." She accompanied when Mr. White sang "Oh Perfect Love" by Burleigh and "I Love Thee" by Grieg and played "Through the Years" as background for the plighting of troth.

The bride principals repeated their vows before an altar made radiant by tapers in pyramidal candelabra, behind three matching white urns of peonies, and they knelt at the conclusion of the ceremony on a prie-dieu.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown of lustrous white satin had a yoke of imported marquisette, outlined by a deep bias fold of satin with long points in the back. The fitted bodice fastened down the back with minute satin buttons and had long fitted sleeves terminating in petal points at the wrists. The voluminous skirt was caught up over the hip panniers with gleaming folds to a circular formal length train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was caught to a braided bandeau of satin scattered with imported seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. She received the bridal bouquet held at its center a white orchid, bordered with matched orchids, Amazon lilies and stephanotis.

Matron of Honor Mrs. Royden Burwell Bowen of Houston attended her sister as matron of honor, and Miss Joan Sloan of Dallas was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Joanne Royall of Dallas, Miss Mary Owens of Dallas, Miss Elouise Elizabeth Smith of Houston, and Miss Elizabeth Smith of Houston. The bride's attendants were picture-framed of white organdy, with turquoise blue taffeta, and man roses, Peruvian lilies and daisies were wreathed in bandeaus for their hats of turquoise maline and hairbraids. The matron of honor carried a fan-shaped arrangement of turquoise roses and white daisies, tied with blue streamers of white net. The other attendants carried tall-tan roses and yellow daisies, from which fell net streamers in matching color tones.

Bruce Adams Jr. attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Thomas Adams, also a brother of the bridegroom, Clyde Manning Jr. of Wills Point; James Simmons and Lloyd Hurley Jr. of Dallas. Thomas Adams lighted the altar.

City Board Of Equalization To Meet June 27

The city board of equalization will meet June 27, Mayor Hubert T. Bragelton said Friday.

Mayor Bragelton said he had been conferring with the three men he hopes will serve, but that definite announcement as to their acceptance of the annual job probably won't be made until next week.

Miss Kate Dunn, tax assessor and collector, has informed the mayor that the rolls will be ready by Monday.

One of the men who served on last year's board will be on the 1949 slate, Mayor Bragelton said.

Calls Of Birds To Be Demonstrated

Corsicana nature lovers will have an unusual treat Wednesday when the Natur Study Club, as hostess organization for the weekly membership luncheon in Kinloch House, presents a program built around recorded bird calls.

The Stillwells, outstanding naturalists of Texas, now are reported to be on a trailer tour to secure other such records. All the calls he has heard are of birds frequently seen in this area. Twenty-two calls are included.

Mrs. Murphy Williams is the new president of the Nature Study Club, and Mrs. Max Almond is the chairman.

Reservations for the luncheon, to be served Wednesday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock, will be accepted by Mrs. J. R. Copeland through Monday evening.

Dr. Syud Hossain Succumbs In Egypt

Dr. Syud Hossain, who appeared here on the Celebrity Series of Kinloch House in 1946, died in his native land to aid in the government of his homeland. He aligned himself with the new Indian state, in which many of his friends were serving and was rewarded by being appointed Indian Ambassador to Egypt.

Angus Couple Wed. Morris Farmer and Miss Juanita Phillips, both of Angus, were married Saturday night by Justice of the Peace R. E. Johnson. The ceremony was performed at the judge's home.

Corsicana Dads Club Officially On Record Favoring School Separation

The Corsicana Dads Club officially went on record Thursday night as favoring the separation of the Corsicana schools from the city government.

As far as is known, the Dads became the second such organization here to take this action. The PTA has already done so and is taking an active part in the campaigning.

The Dads, in a regular meeting at the high school Thursday night, voted unanimously to approve the separation and to actively support the movement, which will come to a vote on June 26.

The organization took the action after Ralph Brown, member of the school board, took a half-hour to explain the history, the advantages and disadvantages of separation.

At one point in his explanation, Brown brought up the fact that the bill has been passed, and that it may alleviate part of the deficiency in the local salary schedules of teachers.

He said, "I don't know, and you don't know if we are going to get the bill. Anyway, we will be forced to extend the school system some day soon."

Corsicana cannot continue to operate without a minimum school system—that's all we want. If the Gilmer-Alkin bill gives us all we need, we still have the building problem to worry about," Brown said after explaining the school and the inadequate facilities for physical training, cafeteria, etc.

In a business session lasting over an hour, the Dads planned their complete schedule of activities for the coming school year, and appointed committees to handle various parts of it.

They voted to: 1. Dispense with the July and August meetings, and begin in September to meet on the third Monday of each month. A full membership meeting was called for August 23, to work out plans for the annual barbecue.

2. Again sell reserved seats to the home games of the Corsicana Tigers this year, and to retain the $8 price for the six home games.

3. Set a separate charge of $1 on the membership fee and $1 for the annual barbecue this year, instead of $1 for both which has been charged in the past. This grew out of the fact that the club was losing money on the annual barbecue and feed at the lower price.

The committee appointed: Membership — Jack Stroube, chairman, to appoint those to serve with him.

Program—Don Winslow, chairman; Silas Fry and R. A. Armistead.

Football Program and Advertising—R. C. Harkins, Ralph Brown and Roy Brinkley.

The Rev. M. L. Richards was officiant in the double ring ceremony. The nuptial music was presented by Mrs. H. C. Meador, organist, and Mrs. Ramon Kirgan, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in starched lace of mint green color over chartreuse taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt of ballroom length. She wore a flower bandeau in her hair, and carried a fan covered with bridal blossoms.

Attending the bride was her cousin, Miss Betty Strange. Her work dress of pink and white was designed with molded bodice, cutwork bertha, triple cord detail at the waistline and very full ballerina skirt. She wore a flower bandeau and carried a flower-covered bouquet.

A reception followed the ceremony, and assisting at a traditionally appointed table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, were Misses Frances Bounds, Jean Willard and Virginia Bounds. The bride, her attendant, and these three members of the houseparty, were classmates in the 1949 graduating class of Wortham High school.

When the bride couple left on a trip, she was wearing a tailored suit of olive green shantung with natural-colored accessories.

The bridegroom served in the U. S. navy and was graduated from West Virginia College. He now is a student at Stephen F. Austin College, Nacogdoches, where they will make their home until his graduation.

The wedding also marked the birthday of the bride, the grand-daughter of the late J. C. Kirgan of Fairfield.
